Bednar Calls For 'Hours' Revision

By MARGUERITE VAUCLAIR
News Staff Writer

Two proposals concerning changes for women at the University in regards to hours and late permissions are now pending action by the Association of Women Students.

Joyce Bednar, AWS president, presented the two proposals at the Tuesday Legislative Board meeting. Miss Bednar said the proposed changes, the result of a year-long AWS evaluation program, came, in part, from the AWS rules committee.

CHANGES CALLED for in the first recommendation include extended weekday midnight late permissions for all women. Freshman women would receive four midnight late permissions per semester; sophomores, six; juniors, eight; and seniors, 10.

The four 2 a.m. weekend late permissions each year, recently granted to women in addition to the ones received for Homecoming, the Christmas Formal, the University Prom, and the Senior Cotillion, would remain the same.

Presently, freshman women are not allowed weekday late permissions; sophomores are allowed four 11:30 p.m. late permissions per semester; juniors are allowed six; and seniors are allowed eight.

THE FIRST recommendation also stated that women would not be required to sign in, but would be encouraged to sign out. Overnight permissions would remain mandatory.

In regards to the not-signing-in proposal, Miss Bednar said, "We will not go to the trouble of checking books to find out if the women are in. There will be no night room check."

"What is happening is that we're (AWS) transferring the responsibility that the University now has for the women to the women themselves," she said.

UNDER SUCH conditions, residence centers would close doors at 11 p.m. and at 1 a.m. Should a woman be caught not returning on time, however, such a violation would result in a referral to the residence center houseboards.

An optional sign-out book would be provided for women who leave campus but who plan to return by closing hours. Such a sign-out book would be encouraged in case the woman had to be reached for an emergency.

The recommendation also stated that freshman and sophomore women would not be asked to have special parental permission cards for overnights, as is now required.

STRICT ENFORCEMENT of telephone usage and quiet hours would be necessary because of the extended hours, the proposal stated. Local telephone calls would be limited to five minutes. Failure to comply with this would be considered a violation of the conduct standards and would result in a warning.

Current AWS rules state that after accumulating three warnings, women must appear before their residence center houseboard. Also, switchboards would open at 8 a.m. and close at midnight. Switchboards presently close at 11:30 p.m.

THE SECOND proposal, which Miss Bednar termed as possibly "more drastic than the first," basically would extend women's hours and eliminate all late permissions.

Calling for extension of residence center hours, the second proposal stated that new hours would be midnight on Tuesday through Thursday, and on Sunday; 2 a.m. on Friday and Saturday; and 11 p.m. on Monday or Wednesday.

The earlier closing hours

on a designated weekday, such as Monday, termed a residence hall night, would allow for corridor meetings.

Such a change would eliminate all late permissions. As in the first proposal, no signing-in would be required, but signing-out would be encouraged. Telephone usage and quiet hours would be enforced in the same manner as in the first recommendation. Parental permission cards for overnights also would be discontinued.

MISS BEDNAR also said that under both plans, there would be no restrictions on inter-hall travel, for either freshmen or upperclassmen.

Miss Bednar said that both proposals are tentative; neither recommendation has to go into effect, per se, should women decide to change present AWS rules. The proposals may be combined.

Miss Bednar also said that she hopes to present a revised proposal, based on residence center discussions gathered this week, at a special AWS meeting Tuesday in the Capital Room.

"THE QUESTION is," she said, "can women accept this responsibility without it having effects on them or on the campus?"

One objection was that midnight closing hours would result in possibly only six hours sleep for women having eight o'clock classes the next morning. Others could see no sense in extending the closing hours just for the sake of "moving them up."

Vanda Tagaments, Treadway Hall president, said that women on some floors felt extended hours as listed in the second proposal would "lower the reputation of the University." She added that many women attend BGSU because of the University-parent image.

Curbstone Debates Outside 'Cheating'

By TOM WALTON
News Managing Editor

Because a few students cannot accept responsibility, dishonesty outside the classroom is becoming a problem that could soon rival the seriousness of cheating within, a Curbstone panel concluded Tuesday.

Linda Peiblow, chairman of last year's Academic Honesty Committee and new president of the Association of Women Students; Spencer Calcamuggio, chief of security; Gerald Arndt, asst. dean of men; and Paul Shepherd, manager of the University Bookstore, agreed that on-campus crimes such as petty and grand larceny, malicious destruction of property, disorderly conduct, and theft from the bookstore are on the increase.

BUT, AS Mr. Arndt pointed out, "the number of cases will rise, but only because the number of students on campus will increase, too. However, the percentage of the student body actually involved will remain quite low."

Mr. Calcamuggio said that in the three years that detailed records have been kept by the department, he has encountered about 850 cases of petty larceny and another 100 cases of grand larceny.

"IN 1962-63, we reached a peak in petty larceny cases," he said. "The 1961-62 school year hit a peak for grand larceny cases, and this year we seem to be having more cases of disorderly conduct." According to another department officer, stolen goods worth less than $99.99 constitute petty larceny; those worth more constitute grand larceny.

Mr. Shepherd emphasized that the bookstore's enigma is no different from that of any retail store. "Our main problem is to keep pilfering and theft at a minimum," he said. "When we observe a student in the act of stealing something from the shelves, we quietly ask him to come into our office. Then we ask him or her to surrender the item and give us his ID card. The case then goes to the University Police and finally to the dean of men or the dean of women."

HE ADDED that a retail store's personnel is no longer required by statute to wait until a suspected shoplifter leaves the store before he can be accosted. "All we have to do is observe the person in the act of concealing the item."

Mr. Arndt pointed out that once the case reaches the office of the dean of men or the dean of women, the student can elect to have his situation handled right there or he can ask that the newly-created Student Discipline Board take jurisdiction.

He was asked why no set standard or punishment has been initiated that could serve as a warning to all University students.

"WE CAN'T do that because we have to consider each case individually," he said. "If you make a decision by an arbitrary rule, you could ruin a student's life and you'd accomplish nothing. We have to help him bounce back and approach his mistake with the right attitude."

Mr. Arndt said that in some cases, the student is sent home, in others, he is simply denied admission for the semester following the incident.

Miss Peiblow spoke briefly on dishonesty in the classroom. She speculated that an all-campus test file in the new library could be one means of at least easing the problem.

"Students just don't seem to see a clear line of responsibility that they have to adhere to," she said.

Civil Rights Forum Topic

Two participants in the recent Selma-to-Montgomery, Ala., civil rights march will be on campus Monday to speak to the weekly session of Curbstone.

They are the Rev. George McClain and Otis Flournoy Jr., both staff field workers for the National Council, Methodist Student Movement, who will present a "Report From Montgomery" at 3:30 p.m. in the Dogwood Suite.

The pair originally was scheduled to speak here March 28, but remained in Alabama to take part in the 50-mile march from Selma to Montgomery. They are expected to arrive on campus Saturday. A number of closed activities are planned for them, according to The Rev. Dr. Henry L. Gerner, associate director of the United Christian Fellowship.

Rev. Mr. McClain is a graduate of the Union Theological Seminary, and Mr. Flournoy is a senior at Stillman College, Tuscaloosa, Ala.

May Court Photos Due

All candidates for May Queen and court must submit their pictures to the Student Activities Office by noon Tuesday, April 13.

Campaigning starts April 26 and elections will be held April 29. The coronation of May Queen and her court will be Friday, April 30, in the amphitheater, behind the Union.

Dodds Wins Top Position In Monday Panhellenic Poll

Marsha Dodds was elected president of Panhellenic Council at Monday's election. Serving with her next year will be Marcia Mauntler, first vice president; Janice Kuchta, second vice president; Cynthia Strom, recording secretary; Kate Balsley, corresponding secretary; and Peggy Conrad, treasurer.

"The new executive board," Miss Dodds said, "hopes to continue to further the fine work done this year in strengthening the Greek system on campus."

THE NEW OFFICERS will be installed at a breakfast Saturday, April 24, and will take over Panhellenic operation Monday, April 26.

A member of Chi Omega, Miss Dodds is on the Junior Class Cabinet, serves as social chairman of Panhel, and is a member of the Association of Women Students Study Committee.

She has been an orientation leader and is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, education honorary society; Sigma Tau Delta, English honorary society; and Press Club, a journalism interest group. She has a 3.6 accumulative point average.

First vice president-elect Marcia Mauntler is president of Alpha Phi. She is a member of Sigma Tau Delta, Kappa Delta Pi, People-to-People, and has a 3.3 accumulative point average.

AS SECOND vice president, Janice Kuchta will be in charge of next year's rush. She is corresponding secretary of Gamma Phi Beta, and is on the Junior Class Cabinet and the Angel Flight Drill Team.

Miss Kuchta is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, the Association of Childhood Education, the Secondary Education Association, and is an AWS standing committee chairman. She also serves as co-chairman of the Panhellenic Social Committee. She has a 3.1 accumulative point average.

Cynthia Strom, recording secretary-elect, is president of Delta Zeta. She works for the Union

Activities Organization, is secretary of the Spanish Club, is a member of the Greek Week Steering Committee, and has a 2.4 accumulative point average.

Kate Balsley, scholarship chairman of Alpha Delta Pi social sorority, will be the new corresponding secretary. In addition to being an AWS standing committee chairman, she is a member of the Secondary Education Association and maintains a 2.4 accumulative point average.

PEGGY CONRAD, member of Alpha Chi Omega social sorority, will continue her treasurer duties on Panhel next year. This year she also has been treasurer of AWS. Miss Conrad is a member of PEM club, a women's health and physical education group, and is a residence hall counselor. She has a 2.98 accumulative point average.

Victors To Receive 'Hand' From Club

Engraved trophies in the shape of a bridge hand will be presented to the local winners of the National Inter-collegiate Bridge Tournament at 1:45 p.m. Sunday, in the Ohio Suite at the meeting of the Campus Bridge Club.

George Rager and James Jordan placed first for north-south while Holly Gibbons and William Goddard were first for east-west.

Awards for the match of March 28, also will be awarded Sunday. In a tie for first place were Holly Gibbons and William Goddard, and Mort Weislow and Merriek Hill. Second place was won by Dr. Robert Keefe and William Gauder.

Rhodes Asks Support For Referendum Issues

By JOHN LOVE
News Editor

Governor James A. Rhodes visited the campus Wednesday evening to reaffirm his support of the four issues up for consideration on the May 4 referendum ballot.

Speaking before 600 persons gathered for a dinner in the ballroom, the Governor said the four proposals were not political issues "caught in the throws of petty political bickering."

THE DINNER was sponsored by Chambers of Commerce and Industrial Development Corporations in Wood County.

"The purpose of the four issues," he said, "is to program the State of Ohio for industrial growth. And all parties must work toward this end."

The Governor said strengthening the State's higher educational system and increasing research was a necessary element in industrial growth and economic development.

HE SAID issue 1, which would provide for state-guaranteed loans to assist colleges students in Ohio, would insure that the "55,000 young people who flood the labor market in the state each year, would be afforded with the mental conditions through education to accept responsibility and be able to find jobs."

Referring to issue 2, a $290 million bond issue, more than half of which would finance higher education in the State, Mr. Rhodes explained that the bonds would allow for the establishment of state-assisted colleges in all counties with a population exceeding 89,000. This, he said, would mean that a state university or commuter college would exist within 29 miles of each student in Ohio.

THE GOVERNOR stated that with only six state universities in cities which comprise only 7 per cent of Ohio's population, "we deny many young people the right to enjoy higher education."

One of the main purposes of the four issues, he said, was to attract industry to Ohio. "Northwestern Ohio is a sleeping industrial giant," the Governor said. "The potential here in food processing is unlimited. But to attract this or any other industry you must provide adequate facilities." He was referring to the $290 million bond issue, part of which would help finance water plants which could be used by industry.

The Governor referred to Issue 4 as "the way to bring industrial growth to Ohio." The proposal would allow communities to borrow money to buy land which would be used for private industrial development.

"IN THE past," Mr. Rhodes said, "we have been unwilling to tell of Ohio's great resources, its products, its markets, its tourist centers." He called for a reversal of this tendency, saying that "we need to sell Ohio to Ohioans," while at the same time attracting tourist trade and industry.

The Governor said at the base of the industrial development and the four issues on the May 4 ballot is an effort to increase employment. "Most social evils stem from unemployment," Mr. Rhodes remarked. "To have full and complete economic growth in our state, we must have programs to create jobs or else we will have to take care of the unemployed."

The people who do not want to build and attract industry, he said, "act as obstacles to industrial growth and fuller employment."

Chariot Race Called Off

A traditional campus event will not be held this year because of a schedule conflict and the negative recommendation of the Social Policy Committee.

The Kappa Sigma Chariot Race was cancelled because this Committee, consisting of members of the Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Council, recommended to Richard J. Towner, coordinator of student activities, that the event not be held this year, according to Clifford Conrad, president of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Conrad said the event originally was scheduled for Oct. 31, 1964. However, he pointed out that this was the week end of the Miami-Bowling Green football game and that this early date wouldn't allow enough time to get the event properly organized.

He said that when he tried to change the date of the event, the only one left open was May 22.

This date would have been acceptable with Mr. Towner if three conditions were met, according to Conrad. These included reducing the size of the parade to one chariot and 10 members for each entry submitted, restricting the parade to the campus grounds, and getting the favorable recommendation of the Social Policy Committee.

Conrad said the event will be held next year if it is one of the six events receiving the most votes in a survey the Social Policy Committee is making to determine which campus events are most popular.

Symphonic Band To Play In Area

The University Symphonic Band will perform in five Ohio high schools during its annual concert tour next week.

The band, consisting of about 80 students, will leave at noon Monday on two chartered buses, said Roy J. Weger, director of University bands. They will return at 5 p.m. Wednesday, April 14.

High schools in Ayersville, Haviland, Greenville, Springfield, and Bellevue will be hosts to the band.

He added that the Symphonic Band has been invited to perform at the State College of Iowa in Cedar Falls, Iowa, where the convention of the College Band Directors National Association is to be held in February, 1966.

60 Activated By O Phi A; Women Pledge Leadership

More than 60 University women became active members of Omega Phi Alpha service sorority in a candlelight ceremony at the United Christian Fellowship Center March 28.

Miss Jean Horn, Lutheran campus worker and senior sister of O

Phi A, led the group in the sorority's oath in which the women pledged themselves to friendship, leadership, and service to the University, community, and country.

CAROL CLOSE, O Phi A president, presented yellow sweetheart roses on behalf of the sorority to the newly activated members, Miss Horn, and Dr. Jacqueline E. Timm, professor of political science and sorority adviser.

Dr. Timm expressed the hope that the activation did not merely mark the end of a pledging period, but rather the beginning of a hard-working and worthwhile organization.

The sorority, which was reorganized last fall, had no active members before the ceremony. Those women who belonged to the sorority last year became pledges again as part of the reorganization program.

OFFICERS OF THE sorority include: Miss Close, president; Joan DeMuth, first vice-president; Janet Hutton, second vice-president; Bonnie Widder, recording secretary; Dorothy Carson, corresponding secretary; Judith Jones, treasurer; Judy Hutchison, historian; and Sharon Kalish, sergeant-at-arms.

Senior members of the organization are: Miss Horn, Mrs. Robert E. McKay, and Mrs. Joy L. Benjamin.

Cobus Hour To Tell Of NASA Business

"How the National Aeronautics and Space Administration Runs Its Business" will be explained during Cobus Hour at 3 p.m. tomorrow in the Dogwood Suite.

The guest speaker is James F. Connors, chief of the Office of Research Plans and Programs at the Lewis Research Center, Cleveland.

Mr. Connors was graduated from Northeastern University in Boston and became a staff member of NASA in 1944. He has worked as a section head in the supersonic wind tunnel at the Lewis Research Center as well as being assistant to the director.

He has written numerous papers dealing with supersonic wind tunnel research.

His talk will be of interest to students in business, political science, and members of the Aerospace detachment.

A TROPHY for the top Army ROTC rifle shooter in the freshman class is presented to Cadet Gordon R. Colman by Maj. James T. Crawford. This is the first year for the trophy, which will now be an annual event. More than 160 cadets competed for the award.

Sorority All-Star Team To 'Flash' On Diamond

The annual all-star sorority baseball game sponsored by Zeta Beta Tau social fraternity will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday at Sterling Farms.

"A representative from each social sorority will participate in what should be a very exciting, and completely unpredictable game," said Bruce Gaynor, coordinator of the event.

"In past years, the sorority all-stars have provided stiff competition for the ZBT's. This year should be no different," he added.

Curbstone Panel Talks Of Campus Dishonesty

"Students and Honesty Outside the Classroom" is today's Curbstone topic.

A panel of four speakers will consider the alleged problems of thievery and vandalism on campus, at 3:30 p.m. in the Alumni Room.

Gerald Arndt, assistant dean of men; Spencer Calcamuggio, chief of security; Linda Peiblow, president-elect of the Association of Women Students; and Paul Shepherd, University book store manager, are the panelists.

Sophomores...

Here's what the new 2-year Army ROTC program means to you

A new Reserve Officer Training Corps program permits selected college sophomores to be commissioned as Army Second Lieutenants in two years. You can do this by:

1. Completing a special 6-week summer camp between your sophomore and junior years.
2. Completing the 2-year Advanced Course at any school offering the ROTC program.

What are the benefits of Army ROTC training?

- Management training for success in civilian or military life.
- $40 per month pay while attending the Advanced Course, plus uniforms; pay and paid travel for summer camps.
- Eligibility for free flight instruction at selected schools leading to a private pilot's license.
- A commission as an Army officer, with all of its accompanying benefits, including higher income, greater opportunity for advancement and officer status.
- The personal satisfaction that comes from knowing you're trained to assume leadership responsibilities.

These benefits will put you a step ahead of other college graduates and will pay off for the rest of your life. You owe it to yourself to investigate these new opportunities.

Bednar Calls For 'Hours' Revision

By MARGUERITE VAUCLAIR
News Staff Writer

Two proposals concerning changes for women at the University in regards to hours and late permissions are now pending action by the Association of Women Students.

Joyce Bednar, AWS president, presented the two proposals at the Tuesday Legislative Board meeting. Miss Bednar said the proposed changes, the result of a year-long AWS evaluation program, came, in part, from the AWS rules committee.

CHANGES CALLED for in the first recommendation include extended weekday midnight late permissions for all women. Freshman women would receive four midnight late permissions per semester; sophomores, six; juniors, eight; and seniors, 10.

The four 2 a.m. weekend late permissions each year, recently granted to women in addition to the ones received for Homecoming, the Christmas Formal, the University Prom, and the Senior Cotillion, would remain the same.

Presently, freshman women are not allowed weekday late permissions; sophomores are allowed four 11:30 p.m. late permissions per semester; juniors are allowed six; and seniors are allowed eight.

THE FIRST recommendation also stated that women would not be required to sign in, but would be encouraged to sign out. Overnight permissions would remain mandatory.

In regards to the not-signing-in proposal, Miss Bednar said, "We will not go to the trouble of checking books to find out if the women are in. There will be no night room check."

"What is happening is that we're (AWS) transferring the responsibility that the University now has for the women to the women themselves," she said.

UNDER SUCH conditions, residence centers would close doors at 11 p.m. and at 1 a.m. Should a woman be caught not returning on time, however, such a violation would result in a referral to the residence center houseboards.

An optional sign-out book would be provided for women who leave campus but who plan to return by closing hours. Such a sign-out book would be encouraged in case the woman had to be reached for an emergency.

The recommendation also stated that freshman and sophomore women would not be asked to have special parental permission cards for overnights, as is now required.

STRICT ENFORCEMENT of telephone usage and quiet hours would be necessary because of the extended hours, the proposal stated. Local telephone calls would be limited to five minutes. Failure to comply with this would be considered a violation of the conduct standards and would result in a warning.

Current AWS rules state that after accumulating three warnings, women must appear before their residence center houseboard. Also, switchboards would open at 8 a.m. and close at midnight. Switchboards presently close at 11:30 p.m.

THE SECOND proposal, which Miss Bednar termed as possibly "more drastic than the first," basically would extend women's hours and eliminate all late permissions.

Calling for extension of residence center hours, the second proposal stated that new hours would be midnight on Tuesday through Thursday, and on Sunday; 2 a.m. on Friday and Saturday; and 11 p.m. on Monday or Wednesday.

The earlier closing hours

on a designated weekday, such as Monday, termed a residence hall night, would allow for corridor meetings.

Such a change would eliminate all late permissions. As in the first proposal, no signing-in would be required, but signing-out would be encouraged. Telephone usage and quiet hours would be enforced in the same manner as in the first recommendation. Parental permission cards for overnights also would be discontinued.

MISS BEDNAR also said that under both plans, there would be no restrictions on inter-hall travel, for either freshmen or upperclassmen.

Miss Bednar said that both proposals are tentative; neither recommendation has to go into effect, per se, should women decide to change present AWS rules. The proposals may be combined.

Miss Bednar also said that she hopes to present a revised proposal, based on residence center discussions gathered this week, at a special AWS meeting Tuesday in the Capital Room.

"THE QUESTION is," she said, "can women accept this responsibility without it having effects on them or on the campus?"

One objection was that midnight closing hours would result in possibly only six hours sleep for women having eight o'clock classes the next morning. Others could see no sense in extending the closing hours just for the sake of "moving them up."

Vanda Tagaments, Treadway Hall president, said that women on some floors felt extended hours as listed in the second proposal would "lower the reputation of the University." She added that many women attend BGSU because of the University-parent image.

Mr. Arndt said that in some cases, the student is sent home, in others, he is simply denied admission for the semester following the incident.

Miss Peiblow spoke briefly on dishonesty IN the classroom. She speculated that an all-campus test file in the new library could be one means of at least easing the problem.

"Students just don't seem to see a clear line of responsibility that they have to adhere to," she said.

Civil Rights Forum Topic

Two participants in the recent Selma-to-Montgomery, Ala., civil rights march will be on campus Monday to speak to the weekly session of Curbstone.

They are the Rev. George McClain and Otis Flournoy Jr., both staff field workers for the National Council, Methodist Student Movement, who will present a "Report From Montgomery" at 3:30 p.m. in the Dogwood Suite. The pair originally was scheduled to speak here March 28, but remained in Alabama to take part in the 50-mile march from Selma to Montgomery. They are expected to arrive on campus Saturday. A number of closed activities are planned for the march, according to The Rev. Dr. Henry L. Gerner, associate director of the United Christian Fellowship.

Rev. Mr. McClain is a graduate of the Union Theological Seminary, and Mr. Flournoy is a senior at Stillman College, Tuscaloosa, Ala.

May Court Photos Due

All candidates for May Queen and court must submit their pictures to the Student Activities Office by noon Tuesday, April 13.

Campaigning starts April 26 and elections will be held April 29. The coronation of May Queen and her court will be Friday, April 30, in the amphitheater, behind the Union.

Dodds Wins Top Position In Monday Panhellenic Poll

Marsha Dodds was elected president of Panhellenic Council at Monday's election. Serving with her next year will be Marcia Mauntler, first vice president; Janice Kuchta, second vice president; Cynthia Strom, recording secretary; Kate Balsley, corresponding secretary; and Peggy Conrad, treasurer.

"The new executive board," Miss Dodds said, "hopes to continue to further the fine work done this year in strengthening the Greek system on campus."

THE NEW OFFICERS will be installed at a breakfast Saturday, April 24, and will take over Panhellenic operation Monday, April 26.

A member of Chi Omega, Miss Dodds is on the Junior Class Cabinet, serves as social chairman of Panhel, and is a member of the Association of Women Students Study Committee.

She has been an orientation leader and is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, education honorary society; Sigma Tau Delta, English honorary society; and Press Club, a journalism interest group. She has a 3.6 accumulative point average.

First vice president-elect Marcia Mauntler is president of Alpha Phi. She is a member of Sigma Tau Delta, Kappa Delta Pi, People-to-People, and has a 3.3 accumulative point average.

AS SECOND vice president, Janice Kuchta will be in charge of next year's rush. She is corresponding secretary of Gamma Phi Beta, and is on the Junior Class Cabinet and the Angel Flight Drill Team.

Miss Kuchta is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, the Association of Childhood Education, the Secondary Education Association, and is an AWS standing committee chairman. She also serves as co-chairman of the Panhellenic Social Committee. She has a 3.1 accumulative point average.

Cynthia Strom, recording secretary-elect, is president of Delta Zeta. She works for the Union

Activities Organization, is secretary of the Spanish Club, is a member of the Greek Week Steering Committee, and has a 2.4 accumulative point average.

Kate Balsley, scholarship chairman of Alpha Delta Pi social sorority, will be the new corresponding secretary. In addition to being an AWS standing committee chairman, she is a member of the Secondary Education Association and maintains a 2.4 accumulative point average.

PEGGY CONRAD, member of Alpha Chi Omega social sorority, will continue her treasurer duties on Panhel next year. This year she also has been treasurer of AWS. Miss Conrad is a member of PEM club, a women's health and physical education group, and is a residence hall counselor. She has a 2.98 accumulative point average.

Victors To Receive 'Hand' From Club

Engraved trophies in the shape of a bridge hand will be presented to the local winners of the National Inter-collegiate Bridge Tournament at 1:45 p.m. Sunday, in the Ohio Suite at the meeting of the Campus Bridge Club.

George Rager and James Jordan placed first for north-south while Holly Gibbons and William Goddard were first for east-west.

Awards for the match of March 28, also will be awarded Sunday. In a tie for first place were Holly Gibbons and William Goddard, and Mort Weislow and Merrick Hill. Second place was won by Dr. Robert Keefe and William Gauder.

Rhodes Asks Support For Referendum Issues

By JOHN LOVE
News Editor

Governor James A. Rhodes visited the campus Wednesday evening to reaffirm his support of the four issues up for consideration on the May 4 referendum ballot.

Speaking before 600 persons gathered for a dinner in the ballroom, the Governor said the four proposals were not political issues "caught in the throws of petty political bickering."

THE DINNER was sponsored by Chambers of Commerce and Industrial Development Corporations in Wood County.

"The purpose of the four issues," he said, "is to program the State of Ohio for industrial growth. And all parties must work toward this end."

The Governor said strengthening the State's higher educational system and increasing research was a necessary element in industrial growth and economic development.

HE SAID issue 1, which would provide for state-guaranteed loans to assist colleges students in Ohio, would insure that the "55,000 young people who flood the labor market in the state each year, would be afforded with the mental conditions through education to accept responsibility and be able to find jobs."

Referring to issue 2, a $290 million bond issue, more than half of which would finance higher education in the State, Mr. Rhodes explained that the bonds would allow for the establishment of state-assisted colleges in all counties with a population exceeding 89,000. This, he said, would mean that a state university or commuter college would exist within 29 miles of each student in Ohio.

THE GOVERNOR stated that with only six state universities in cities which comprise only 7 per cent of Ohio's population, "we deny many young people the right to enjoy higher education."

One of the main purposes of the four issues, he said, was to attract industry to Ohio. "Northwestern Ohio is a sleeping industrial giant," the Governor said. "The potential here in food processing is unlimited. But to attract this or any other industry you must provide adequate facilities." He was referring to the $290 million bond issue, part of which would help finance water plants which could be used by industry.

The Governor referred to Issue 4 as "the way to bring industrial growth to Ohio." The proposal would allow communities to borrow money to buy land which would be used for private industrial development.

"IN THE past," Mr. Rhodes said, "we have been unwilling to tell of Ohio's great resources, its products, its markets, its tourist centers." He called for a reversal of this tendency, saying that "we need to sell Ohio to Ohioans," while at the same time attracting tourist trade and industry.

The Governor said at the base of the industrial development and the four issues on the May 4 ballot is an effort to increase employment. "Most social evils stem from unemployment," Mr. Rhodes remarked. "To have full and complete economic growth in our state, we must have programs to create jobs or else we will have to take care of the unemployed."

The people who do not want to build and attract industry, he said, "act as obstacles to industrial growth and fuller employment."

Chariot Race Called Off

A traditional campus event will not be held this year because of a schedule conflict and the negative recommendation of the Social Policy Committee.

The Kappa Sigma Chariot Race was cancelled because this Committee, consisting of members of the Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Council, recommended to Richard J. Towner, coordinator of student activities, that the event not be held this year, according to Clifford Conrad, president of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Conrad said the event originally was scheduled for Oct. 31, 1964. However, he pointed out that this was the week end of the Miami-Bowling Green football game and that this early date wouldn't allow enough time to get the event properly organized.

He said that when he tried to change the date of the event, the only one left open was May 22.

This date would have been acceptable with Mr. Towner if three conditions were met, according to Conrad. These included reducing the size of the parade to one chariot and 10 members for each entry submitted, restricting the parade to the campus grounds, and getting the favorable recommendation of the Social Policy Committee.

Conrad said the event will be held next year if it is one of the six events receiving the most votes in a survey the Social Policy Committee is making to determine which campus events are most popular.

Symphonic Band To Play In Area

The University Symphonic Band will perform in five Ohio high schools during its annual concert tour next week.

The band, consisting of about 80 students, will leave at noon Monday on two chartered buses, said Roy J. Weger, director of University bands. They will return at 5 p.m. Wednesday, April 14.

High schools in Ayersville, Haviland, Greenville, Springfield, and Bellevue will be hosts to the band.

He added that the Symphonic Band has been invited to perform at the State College of Iowa in Cedar Falls, Iowa, where the convention of the College Band Directors National Association is to be held in February, 1966.

Cheating Nothing New In University Classroom

By RONALD PEISA
News Columnist

The cheating problem at the University—and it is a problem—has been developing over a period of years. And in reality, it may be one of its own making.

The underlying factor seems to be the traditional A, B, C, D, or F lettergrade. Speaking with numerous students about cheating and the reasons behind it, their replies almost always fell into one of the three following categories:

—“Everyone says grades don't mean a damn thing, but with our type of grading system they definitely do.”

—“Everyone else does it, so I have to also.”

—“What I learn in the classroom doesn't matter anymore, but the score I get on a test does.”

Each of these reasons is ridiculous! For years now we have been told that America's morals are disintegrating. Now, it appears that student's ethics are headed in the same direction.

The consensus is “To heck with what we learn in the classroom. Let's see if we can all work together and get a high grade. The essence of learning isn't the important thing anymore.”

Members of the student body, faculty, and administration must combat this attitude—head-on—with no holds barred. Pampering students that want, do, and desire to cheat must be stopped. These few individuals must be made aware of the responsibility they accept as members of an educational institution.

Combating the challenge will have to be a joint effort, but the leadership must first come from the STUDENTS. If they desire to improve themselves and the name and reputation of the University, it can be done. If they don't care and follow the traditional path of “apathy,” the essence of an institution of higher learning will continue to degenerate.

I am now issuing a challenge to the newly elected officers and members of the student body to accept this challenge. As the elected campus-leaders, it should be their responsibility to deal with cheating as a personal insult to the integrity of each and every individual they represent.

It should be up to them to research and propose legislation that will end this problem.

One possible solution is that discussed with orientation leaders earlier in the year.

This system would allow a student to receive grades only in courses of his major field of study. In other required courses, the student would receive either a “S” for satisfactory, or a “U” for unsatisfactory, to be determined by the professor.

In these courses, the emphasis could be taken off the memorization of fact, and placed on learning theory and developing ideas. Give the student a chance to develop his mind and think on his own.

It is time for the students and faculty members of this campus community to re-develop some pride and respect for the institution of which they are a part.

“BY THE WAY, ED, SOME OF TH' PROFS AROUND HERE ARE REAL STRICT ABOUT CLASS ATTENDANCE.”

Letters To The Editor

Clubs Reply

Dear Editor:

In response to Mr. Hoopes' recent letter, we would gladly receive the challenge of becoming campus political parties and running slates of candidates for campus offices.

Our clubs, the Young Democrats and the Young Republicans, have the apparatus and experience needed to wage a political campaign. As it now stands, this lies dormant for much of the year. This could very easily be widened in scope to include both on-campus and off-campus activities, and to include within our folds all those people who are interested in politics, be it campus or otherwise.

Because we are already organized, we would be the logical ones to fill the need for parties on this campus. Just as our parties on the national level are able to cross all lines and create a national unity, so we could do the same in creating a better campus atmosphere.

As I See It

Another Korea In The Making?

By FRED ENDRES
News Columnist

United States intervention in Viet Nam is beginning to look more and more like a little Korea. A day does not pass without loss of American lives in the festering little hotspot. And where will it stop?

President Johnson has stepped up “defensive actions” against the Communist North Vietnamese by sending more troops over and by dishing out “devastating” aerial attacks on bridges, supply centers, etc.

Meanwhile, the Communists have been content to knock U.S. fighters and bombers out of the air at an alarmingly-increasing rate. The North Vietnamese planes, by the way, have been identified as Soviet-built, no great surprise really.

When the Communists aren't inflicting losses on our military, they are planting bombs in the American Embassy, killing innocent civilians, both Americans and South Vietnamese.

Certainly the U.S. belongs in Viet Nam, to protect western interests and to hinder the ever-increasing subversive approach of the Communists.

But, where will it stop? We are not at war in the sense of the word known during the world wars or the Korean conflict. If we are protecting a basic principle of freedom for that country, or any country so threatened, let us make our stand firm, complete and deadly.

Otherwise we are wasting not only time, weapons and strength, but also American lives.

Ku Klux Klan Imperial Wizard Robert Shelton, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., has continued his verbal attack on President Johnson.

“If Johnson continues his yacking,” Shelton was quoted as saying, “he may become one of the best organizers the Klan has ever had!”

Laugh while you can Mr. Shelton. You and those members of your perverted group have few days left to do so.

On the lighter side is the break in the weather this week. (Knowing my luck, it's probably raining at the moment.)

Bad news comes from Florida, however, Daytona Beach and Fort Lauderdale both have put out the Unwelcome mats for college students this year.

Faculty, Students Voice Reaction To Rebirth Of Cheating Problem

Compiled by News Staff

The recent rebirth of controversy concerning cheating at the University, prompted by a letter written by Dr. John E. Exner, assoc. prof. of psychology and chairman of the department, has resulted in a great deal of opinion from faculty members and student leaders.

Dr. Exner's letter, which appeared in the April 2 edition of the News, was an indictment of what Dr. Exner termed the worst example of student dishonesty at any of the six colleges and universities he has been connected with, either as a student or a faculty member.

Comments from the faculty:

Dr. Otto F. Bauer, assoc. prof. of speech and director of all Speech 102 classes—“Cheating is a persistent problem within our department. I am very concerned about the number of times a student doesn't prepare his own speech, but uses one made up by a friend.”

“BECAUSE OF cheating, we have been forced to eliminate some of our assignments. One assignment eliminated was having students prepare a notebook on course lectures.”

“Presently it is up to the individual professor to decide the penalty for a student who is cheating. I don't think removing the students from the University will solve the problem, but each case should be handled individually.”

“I would like to see some form of an Honors system installed. At universities which use the Honors system, I have found the students to have a tremendous sense of pride and respect between themselves and the faculty.”

Dr. Leland Van Scoyoc, chairman of the economics department—“I have been finding this problem of cheating for 20 years. What we need is a higher standard of morality on behalf of the students. Too many are coming here just to get through, not to get an education.”

“I HAVE found several cases of cheating in my own classes and have automatically failed the student for the course. I also use various types of examinations and quizzes to help lessen the opportunity of cheating.”

Comments from students:

Richard Seaman, treasurer-elect of the Student Body for the 1965-66 school year and Sophomore Class Student Council representative this year—“The problem has developed from the emphasis placed on grades. The students feel they must cheat to get ahead, because the grade is the important thing, not what they learn.”

“STUDENTS ARE going to have to find honor in not cheating, rather than in accepting it. A possible revamping of the grading system might help. The grades are made to mean too much. The emphasis should be put on something else.”

“Also, it would be interesting to know who cheats more, students who are on warning and about to flunk out, or those who are enrolled in Honors courses and feel they must cheat to stay on top.”

Fitz-Edward Otis, president of the Freshman Class in 1963-64 and the Sophomore Class for 1964-65—“The problem is evident in almost every class I am in.”

“IT MIGHT help if tests were made more subjective, rather than objective. Instead of a course teaching only facts, let it teach some theory.”

“I don't think an Honors system would work here because we don't have the same quality student many universities using the system have.

“The problem is a joint one, between the faculty and the student. The blame cannot be placed on one or the other. Some professors don't take the time to make new tests, but use old ones that are even out-dated with current lectures.”

“STUDENTS SHOULD take the initiative to go deeper than just the surface and learn the why of the facts, not just the memorization of them.”

Linda Peiblow, president of AWS for the 1965-66 school year—“One possible way to help would be the opening of an all-campus file containing old tests. It wouldn't alleviate the problem, but at least it would give equality between those who have the tests and those who don't.”

“If the students want those who cheat kicked out, the action should be suggested from the students. If they want change let them take it upon themselves, rather than having it forced upon them by the administration.”

Symphonic Band Plans New Album Of MAC Songs

The University Symphonic Band has recorded an album of fight songs and alma maters of Mid-American Conference schools according to Roy J. Weger, director of University bands.

Mr. Weger said the album is entitled "Echoes of Mid-America" and recorded on the Century label. It is a 10-inch long-playing record available in both stereo and monaural forms, through the alumni offices and bookstores of the MAC schools, in the near future.

"Echoes of Mid-America" was designed to be a souvenir record for alumni and students of the seven MAC schools," Mr. Weger said.

The idea for the record was Mr. Weger's. "We've been planning this for two years," he said. "We have all the fight songs and alma maters and we've made our own arrangement for each one."

Arrangements were written by Mr. Weger and Dr. George Reynolds, a member of the music faculty two years ago. Louis E. Marini, instructor in music, wrote several of the interludes.

Mr. Weger said that this is the third album the Symphonic Band has recorded. Their first album, "Symphony of Winds," was released nationally in 1959. The second, "Winds in Encore," was recorded in 1962.

Debaters Win W490 Planned 3rd Position For Summer

Ohio University placed first in the Ohio Novice Debate Tournament at the University April 3. They compiled a record of five wins and one loss.

Their affirmative team was 2-1 and negative team 3-0. A three-way tie for first place was broken on speaker points.

There was a tie for second place between the University of Cincinnati and Cedarville College. They each compiled 5-1 records. Nine teams competed.

Bowling Green placed third with four wins and two losses. Robert Olive and David Klumpp, affirmative, won two and lost one. Greg Gardner and Rodger Burdick, negative, won two and lost one.

All teams debated the national proposition "Resolved: that the federal government should establish a national program of public work for the unemployed."

Giannini Plans Campus Talk

Vittorio Giannini, nationally famous composer, will be at the University Sunday to give a lecture and attend a concert by the University Symphony Orchestra.

Mr. Giannini's lecture will be given at 4 p.m. in the Hall of Music Recital Auditorium.

The Orchestra, directed by Harry Kruger, associate professor of music and director of University Orchestral Activities, will perform at 8:15 p.m. in the Main Auditorium.

Mr. Giannini was winner of the Ford Foundation Commission for his composition "Medea" for soprano and orchestra. He has been a teacher of composition at the Manhattan School of Music and the Curtis Institute of Music, and recently has been appointed president of the new North Carolina School of the Arts, said Mr. Kruger. He added that the North Carolina school is the first state-supported school of the arts in the nation.

The Symphony Orchestra's concert will include Mr. Giannini's "Symphony No. 2," "Prelude to Die Meistersinger," by Wagner, and Beethoven's "Piano Concerto No. 5" featuring Jerome Rose, artist-in-residence, as piano soloist.

Class Of '67 To Hold Hayride Tomorrow

The Sophomore Class will sponsor a hayride tomorrow.

The wagons will be behind Harshman Quadrangle from 7:30 to 8 p.m. They will then leave for Dauer's Barn where there will be refreshments and music provided by the Neurotics.

"The dance will be over at 11:30 and the wagons will return to the University at 12:30 a.m.," said Fitz Otis, Sophomore Class president.

The English Summer Workshop will offer a three-credit course, W490 Independent Reading in English, from May 15 through Oct. 1.

"American Women Novelists, 1896-present," will be the topic of the correspondence course which will be taught by Dr. Alma J. Payne, professor of English.

English 201 is needed as a prerequisite to take the course and W490 will satisfy a 400 level credit in English, explained Dr. Payne.

"Students are urged to sign up for the course immediately after spring vacation as enrollment will be limited. Those interested should sign up in the English department office and obtain a signed schedule envelope from me," said Dr. Payne.

A general meeting will be held in May for those who sign up for the course, and actual registration will take place after May 22.

Cost of the course will be $75 for Ohio residents.

3 Music Students To Present Recital

Carol Cooper, Dennis Gross, and Sue Steck, students in the School of Music, will present a joint recital at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow in the recital hall.

Miss Cooper and Miss Steck will perform on the piano, and Gross will play the harp.

Spring Grid Drills Commence

By JACK HARTMAN
News Assistant Sports Editor

Ready . . . hut . . . two . . . go . . . smack . . . crash . . . thud. The sounds of football. Quiet since November, the gridiron came to life Monday with the advent of spring football practice.

A heavy drizzle, cold winds, and soggy turf greeted the gridders on opening day, but it failed to dampen their enthusiasm. Constant exuberant chatter was the order of the day, even during the calisthenics. Players and coaches alike hustled throughout the various phases of the work-out.

New Head Coach Bob Gibson began the session by re-iterating to his team that he intends to continue most of the procedures developed by his predecessor Doyt Perry.

In addition, he reminded the players that the extent of their efforts now has a great bearing on their future success. "Work to improve yourself," he said.

Not all of next fall's varsity squad reported on Monday. Eleven rising seniors have the opening sessions off, and will begin practicing with the team today. Seven griders are out for spring sports and will miss the entire spring drills. One is injured.

The physical action commenced at 4:15 with calisthenics, featuring an exercise innovation. Instead of the usual bar isometrics, the squad has switched to rope isometrics. More specialized exercises in a shorter time are accomplished with the rope.

Team defensive drills followed the calisthenics. Next came individual offense and then individual defense routines.

After that, the squad split in two. The backs and ends worked on passing and receiving, while the interior linemen practiced pass protection.

Then came the learning and practice of particular plays. Finally, the squad split into offensive units and rehearsed the sequences.

The Falcons are not only preparing for the upcoming season, but also for the annual intersquad game to be held on May 8.

They will hold their first full-scale scrimmage on the practice field north of the Fine Arts Bldg. Tuesday afternoon April 13. It is open to the public.

For the new assistant coaches, Tom Kisselle and Don Nehlen, Monday marked the first day on the practice field. Kisselle spent most of his time with the ends, Nehlen with the interior linemen.

Coed Bowler To Compete In Tourney

Carla Rupert, a freshman in the College of Education, will leave today for Portland, Ore., where she will compete in the fourth annual Women's International Intercollegiate Bowling Tournament, tomorrow, Sunday, and Monday.

Miss Rupert took first place in tournament play at Central Michigan to become eligible for the finals. Finishing second in the all-events was Sis Bauer, a sophomore at Bowling Green.

The tournament is conducted by the Association of College Unions Recreation Committee, and is co-sponsored by the Women's International Bowling Congress and the Brunswick Corp.

Seventy-six coeds from the United States and Canada will be competing. Each girl will bowl in the singles, doubles and team events, with their nine-game totals added up to determine the all events winner.

Miss Rupert also represented Ohio in the Bowling Proprietors of America tournament held last summer in Washington D.C.

Signing Of Toledo All-Stater Announced By Coach Gibson

Dennis Zolciak, All-City end, both offensively and defensively from Toledo Central, has signed a letter of intent to attend the University next fall.

Head Coach Bob Gibson announced the signing of the 6-1, 190, lineman earlier in the week. Zolciak is a prize not only on the athletic field, but also in the classroom. He is ranked 32nd in his class and won his school's scholar-athlete award.

He is the third top-flight Toledo gridder headed for the University. He joins the Toledo DeVilbiss back-field duo of John Ulmer and Bob Wert, who agreed to wear the Orange and Brown last month.

OXFORD—Bowling Green moves in here this weekend for a two game series with Miami to open competition in the Mid-American baseball race.

Russ Jacques and Mike McGrievy are slated to be the starting pitchers in the two games.

Last year the Redskins posted a 5-15 record and were 2-9 in the MAC. In their only meeting with Bowling Green, the Falcons came out with a 10-6 win.

Bowling Green's game with Michigan, scheduled for Tuesday, was rained out and will be re-scheduled.

Scholler's Shopping Starts Successfully

By LARRY DONALD

For most of us, shopping sprees are a pleasure, but for Warren Scholler and every other major college basketball coach in the United States it becomes an arduous business each spring.

The coaches and their assistants wear out cars and shoes in an effort to land their prize high school prospects. Sometimes they get their choices and sometimes not, but you may be certain that they are always in there pitching.

LARRY DONALD

For Scholler in his second year of talent hunting, early indications are that he may land even more talent than last year when he got Walt Piatkowski, Dick Hendrix, and the rest of last season's talented Freshman team.

Already in the fold is Rick Macauley, a 6-8 center from Youngstown who led Bordman High School to an undefeated season before it fell in the regional finals. Macauley scored over 400 points during the season and was named to an all-state berth. In addition, he is a "B" student.

The real prize, however, is almost ready to sign and according to Scholler he has already indicated his intention to enroll here next fall. This is the much publicized star from Midland, Pa., Simmy Hill.

Hill, a close friend of Nick Alois who is also a Midland, Pa. product, led his high school to the state championship and was named to the first team of the United States High School All-American team.

"We have watched Simmy for some time now," says Scholler, "and in my opinion he is one of the greatest high school players in the country today."

However, Scholler is far from through with his recruiting effort. He is still hot in pursuit of the talents of Lima Shawnee's Jeff Miller and Toledo DeVilbiss All-Stater, Dave McClellan.

"McClellan is definitely our top prospect in the Toledo area," commented Scholler.

But, in going after these two Scholler will lock horns with the Big Ten. Ohio State's Fred Taylor is rumored to have the inside track with Miller, but it is only a rumor. Dave Strack is launching a full scale effort to get McClellan into a blue and maize uniform at Michigan.

Reports drifting back from the glass capital indicate McClellan is looking favorably toward Bowling Green. But then, the Falcons don't have Cazzie Russell as a persuasive technique.

These are the more prominent names, but there is a long list of talent falling in behind, to whom Scholler will give a great deal of attention.

Tom Lick, a 6-11 pivotman from Gaylord, Mich., and 6-6 Willie Edwards from Detroit both come highly regarded and Freshman Coach Bob Conbar is closing in on them.

Another prospect, labled as "late bloomer" is Lorain Admiral King's Doug Grayson. The 6-5 center led Admiral King to the Regional finals before it bowed to Lima Shawnee.

Two area players meriting consideration at the moment are Carl Innat, Lakeside and Dick Rolfe, Northwood. Innat was the spark-plug of Lakeside, which was the top ranked "A" team in the state throughout much of the season.

These are the principals of Scholler's talent scouting efforts, and if he adds McClellan and Miller to a talent list headed by Macauley and Hill . . . Mid-American be ready.

THINK IT OVER

Claude Lightfoot, Vice-Chairman of the National Executive Committee of the Communist Party of the United States and Chairman of the Communist Party of Illinois, has sent the following telegram to the President:

"Mr. President, on behalf of all American Communists, we join Americans of all political persuasions, religious beliefs and ethnic groups in applauding your address to Congress and the American people. If its spirit and content remain uncompromised, it will rank in history as one of our nation's greatest speeches. We Communists pledge to do all in our power to help implement your efforts to pass a right-to-vote law at the grass roots level of America."
